Headline: GSS Infotech achieves Symantec End Point Management Master Specialization

Subhead: GSS Infotech Recognized by Symantec for Expertise in End Point Management

Minneapolis, MN — Nov 8, 2011 — GSS Infotech announced today that it has achieved Symantec Master Specialization in the area of End Point Management. Symantec Master Specialization recognizes partners with a proven expertise in a particular area of business and empowers them with the IT skills and experience required to deliver differentiated services to customers.

“By achieving this Master Specialization, GSS Infotech has demonstrated an investment and expertise in Symantec End Point Management.” said Siva Kumar Nuti, GSS Infotech COO. He continued, “Symantec Master Specialization enables GSS Infotech to build upon our already comprehensive solution set in this area of our business, and complements our existing capabilities for End User Computing services.

“The Symantec End Point Management Master Specializations recognizes GSS Infotech’s ability to deliver advanced consulting, technical and service to their customers,” said Randy Cochran, Vice President, North America Channel Sales Americas, Symantec Corp. “Master Specialist partners have demonstrated deep investment in Symantec and an expertise in delivering advanced services and solutions to protect customers’ most critical information.”

Mike Dunham, VP of Infrastructure Solutions commented, “This achievement is a real feather in the GSS Infotech cap, and reinforces our commitment and belief in the Symantec product set.” He went on to say, “We will continue to offer solutions, consulting and training services around the Symantec / Altiris product portfolio and continue to develop our already formidable Symantec expertise.”
